

KPA ELECTIONS 2021 MANIFESTO

I am Akolade Akeem Habib (Akeem – preferably) a Postgraduate student in Clinical Education and I am running for the post of secretary of the KPA.

I currently work with the Royal Stoke University Hospital as a Cardiothoracic SHO, and interfacing with people is a part of my daily routine, and this I believe is an essential part of this role.

In Nigeria, I served as a General secretary of a local chapter of a national association during which I ran a campaign that successfully organised the provision of healthcare services to indigenes of the community.

I also delved into radio broadcasting as a part-time hobby, where I worked at disseminating health tips to over 5 million listeners nationwide.

The experiences highlighted above are some of the reasons, I am putting myself forward as a worthy candidate in this election.

The post-graduate community includes a wider array of people who have been through university life before and most likely currently, have other life commitments. This creates a “GAP” between them and the university/extracurricular activities and I wish to serve as the bridge in that gap.

- I will ensure that information is disseminated to the PG community as and when due
